The PBR Tour is a grueling test of strength, agility, and courage. Riders must stay on top of a 2,000-pound bull for eight seconds in order to score points. If they are bucked off, they receive no points. The rider with the highest score at the end of the event wins.

The PBR Tour is a major draw for rodeo fans. Events are held in large stadiums and arenas, and they often sell out. Riders are cheered on by a passionate crowd that loves the excitement and danger of bull riding.

The PBR Tour is also a lucrative business. Riders can earn millions of dollars in winnings. The top riders are often featured in magazines and on television. They also have endorsement deals with major companies.

The PBR Tour is a way of life for riders. They travel from event to event, living out of their suitcases. They train hard and compete against the best riders in the world. The PBR Tour is a test of both physical and mental strength.

One of the most famous riders on the PBR Tour is J.B. Mauney. Mauney is a two-time PBR World Champion, and he has won more than $7 million in his career. Mauney is known for his aggressive riding style and his ability to stay on top of the toughest bulls.

Another top rider on the PBR Tour is Silvano Alves. Alves is a four-time PBR World Champion, and he has won more than $6 million in his career. Alves is known for his smooth riding style and his ability to control the bulls.

The PBR Tour is a challenging and rewarding way of life. Riders must be tough, both physically and mentally. They must be able to handle the pain and danger of bull riding. But for those who are up to the challenge, the PBR Tour can be a life-changing experience.

Here is a look at some of the highlights of the 2019 PBR Tour season:

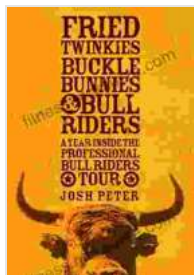

* J.B. Mauney won his second PBR World Championship. * Silvano Alves won his fourth PBR World Championship. * Chase Outlaw won the PBR

Rookie of the Year award. * The PBR Tour held its first-ever event in Australia. * The PBR Tour expanded to 25 events in 2019.

The 2020 PBR Tour season is shaping up to be another exciting one. The top riders in the world will be competing for points and prize money at events throughout the United States and Canada. The season will culminate with the PBR World Finals in Las Vegas, Nevada.

The PBR Tour is a great way to experience the excitement and danger of bull riding. Events are held in large stadiums and arenas, and they often sell out. Riders are cheered on by a passionate crowd that loves the excitement and danger of bull riding.

If you are looking for a fun and exciting way to spend an evening, then check out a PBR Tour event. You won't be disappointed.
