

NASA, Donald Trump, and the Cosmic Cover-Up of End Time Proportions

In the annals of human history, there have been countless instances of governments and powerful institutions concealing information from the public. These cover-ups, often shrouded in secrecy and fueled by fear, have ranged from the mundane to the truly extraordinary.

One such alleged cover-up that has sparked intense speculation and controversy in recent years involves the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and the administration of former US President Donald Trump. According to a growing number of whistleblowers, scientists, and independent researchers, NASA and the Trump administration have been complicit in suppressing evidence of a catastrophic cosmic event with potential end-time implications.

Hidden Evidence and Expert Testimony

The alleged cover-up is said to have begun in 2016, when NASA scientists discovered an anomaly in the trajectory of a large celestial object, later identified as a comet or asteroid on a collision course with Earth. The object, estimated to be several kilometers in diameter, posed a significant threat to life on the planet, capable of triggering a global catastrophe.

According to whistleblowers within NASA, the agency immediately alerted the Trump administration about the impending threat. However, instead of taking swift action to warn the public and prepare for the worst, the administration allegedly ordered NASA to downplay the discovery and suppress all evidence of its existence.

Since then, a number of independent scientists and researchers have come forward to corroborate the whistleblowers' accounts. They have presented compelling evidence, including satellite images, data anomalies, and expert testimony, which they claim supports the existence of the hidden cosmic threat.

Potential Consequences

The potential consequences of this alleged cover-up are beyond comprehension. A catastrophic cosmic event, such as the impact of a comet or asteroid, could wipe out entire cities, trigger global wildfires, and cause widespread famine. Such an event would undoubtedly have a profound impact on human civilization, potentially leading to its collapse.

Furthermore, the suppression of evidence and the failure to warn the public about this impending threat constitute a grave violation of public trust. It raises serious questions about the integrity of our institutions and the willingness of those in power to protect their own interests at the expense of the safety of the people they serve.

Uncovering the Truth

In the face of such grave allegations, it is imperative that we demand transparency and accountability. We must demand that NASA and the former Trump administration come clean about what they know about this alleged cosmic threat.

Independent investigations, led by credible scientists and experts, should be conducted to verify the evidence and establish the truth. The public deserves to know the full extent of this potential danger and what steps are being taken to protect our planet and its inhabitants.

The alleged cosmic cover-up by NASA and the Trump administration is a chilling reminder of the dangers of secrecy and the lengths to which those in power will go to protect their own interests. The potential consequences of this alleged cover-up are simply too great to ignore.

We must continue to demand transparency, accountability, and the full disclosure of any information related to this alleged cosmic threat. Only by uncovering the truth and taking appropriate action can we hope to avert the potential catastrophe that may be looming on the horizon.
